AMANDA DOUGLAS

Amanda Douglas holds a Bachelor of Arts in Anthropology and a Bachelor of Science in Forensic Science. She has over five years of experience as a Medicolegal Death Investigator and two years as an Internal Affairs Investigator, where she developed a strong foundation in investigative methodology and critical analysis.

Her passion lies in uncovering the truth behind each case and giving a voice to those who can no longer speak for themselves. With a deep respect for the investigative process and the families affected by loss, she approaches each case with compassion, integrity, and professionalism.

Amanda is honored to serve as a Deputy Coroner for Bingham County and is committed to providing clarity, closure, and dignity in the face of loss.
