

ABOUT SHANTE SANCHEZ

Shante Sanchez has always had a passion for the complexities of forensics, mental health and death investigation. Having moved to Bingham County when she was in high school, Shante has been an active and devoted member in the community for over a decade and hopes to serve with compassion, empathy and understanding of the impact of Idaho's unique qualities.

Having graduated Idaho State University with her Bachelor of Science in Psychology, she embarked on a journey to achieve the upmost level of understanding of the abnormal mind and criminological experiences. She received her Masters of Science in Forensic Psychology from Arizona State University in 2020 with an emphasis in investigative criminology and a specialization in severe mental illness and violent crime.

In addition to her entrepreneurial and academic achievements, she spent multiple years in mental health intervention as a behavioral interventionist for juveniles, case manager, skills training coordinator and administrator for various mental health agencies. After developing a deeper understanding of the impact of mental illness, she realized the importance of mental health, victimology services and continued crisis intervention in the community.

Shante is devoted mother of two rambunctious boys, professional business owner and has achieved her certification as a Medicolegal Death Investigator (D-ABDMI). Shante is proud to serve the residents of Bingham County as an Auxiliary Deputy Coroner.
